Extra Credit for Com 1010 Students
Play Critique
“The play is intended for performance—it's written text leaves broad areas blank”

Title ___________________________________________
What clue does it give to the play? Is it in the play?
__________________________________________________________________________

Cast of characters: Who is the protagonist? (the central figure in the main action)__________________________
Who is the antagonist? (in a play with conflict, the character who opposes the protagonist) _________________________

Choose one of the above characters and explain the draw or the dislike for this character.
__________________________________________________________________________

How is rate (speed in which character talks) used in this play?
__________________________________________________________________________

Did your character have vocal variety? Explain.
__________________________________________________________________________

Idea: What is the meaning of the play? Is there more than one? (subplots)
__________________________________________________________________________

Your opinion: Did you enjoy the play?
__________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________

Did you agree with its message?
__________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________

Your name _______________________________ Date _______________________________
Com 1010 class _______________________________ Grade ______________________